

MAYSVILLE, KENTUCKY, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1914.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

Who is it when you're down and out
And trouble hedges you about
Says: "Your word, pal, I'll never doubt.
Just take this coin and start to shout,
And hard luck we will put to rout?"
Who is this kindly, trusting scout?
Why—yourself!

A RECORD-BREAKER

For the Season Was the Fancy Price Received For Some Tobacco On the Local Market Friday.

Friday was the best day on the local tobacco market since its opening. A total of 189,675 pounds was sold and while some of the house averages were comparatively small, the sales as a whole, were quite satisfactory, the low averages referred to being caused by a large percentage of low-grade tobacco. That good tobacco in good order is bringing good prices is evidenced by a glance at the report of special crops and special baskets referred to in the following detailed report:

Farmers and Planters.

Pounds sold ..... 46,600
High price ..... $22.00
Low price ..... 2.00
One basket containing 110 pounds sold to Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company for $22.
Special crops—Simpson and Warren, Washington neighborhood, averaged $16.49; Harry Applegate, Orangeburg, averaged $15.15; J. C. Moran, Robertson county, averaged $11.36.

Home.

Pounds sold ..... 38,495
High price ..... $16.00
Low price ..... 2.00
Offerings fair, market steady on all grades.

Special crops—Guilfoyle and McDaniel, Mason county, 4,330 pounds, averaged $12; Sausley and Denton, Fleming county, averaged $12.

Central.

Pounds sold ..... 30,650
High price ..... $17.50
Low price ..... 2.10
Offerings were principally of common grades.

Special crops—Mrs. Julia Ham, 1,605 pounds, averaged $13.12; G. L. Fitch, 2,095 pounds, averaged $14.55. Market continues strong.

Growers.

BANDIT KILLED

Daring Desperado who Robbed Two Banks of $13,200, Shot to Death Policeman Before His Capture

Cincinnati Had Thriller That Faded all the Movie Shows

Cincinnati, O., December 18.—The life of Frank G. Hohl, notorious automobile bandit, ended here yesterday following three hours' career of crime which included the robbing of two Cincinnati banks, the theft of an automobile, and a pistol duel with policemen that resulted in the death of one officer and the bandit. Thirteen thousand one hundred dollars are missing as the result of the bank robberies, and the police are confident that Hohl in his wild drives, managed to pass this money along to some confederate.

Hohl's daring raids started shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning, when he entered the West End branch of the Provident Savings Bank and Trust Company, Eighth and Freeman avenues, fired two shots at Cashier Edward Hughes, scooped up $8,000 in currency, backed through the door, jumped into a waiting automobile, which had been stolen, and disappeared. Cashier Hughes fired after the robber, but his shots did not take effect.

While the police were searching for the bandit more than one hour later, he entered the Liberty Banking & Savings Company bank at Liberty and Freeman avenues, ten blocks away, fired two shots at Cashier George Winters, grabbed what proved to be $5,100 in currency, ran to his automobile and again disappeared. The shots were so close to Winters that he was powder burned, but other than suffering from the shock, he was uninjured.

Opens Fire.

Almost two hours later Harry Buckhorn, whose mother conducts an apartment house on West Ninth street, informed the police of the similarity of a man who rented a room there with a description given of the bandit. Three policemen called at the room, and upon knocking, the door was suddenly thrown open and the bandit opened fire, at the same time brushing past the officers. Policeman Edward Knoul was fatally wounded. Hohl again ran to his automobile, which was standing at a nearby corner, and bid fair again to make good his escape, but in rounding a corner the machine crashed into a telephone pole and was wrecked. The bandit jumped out and opened fire on the other two officers who had pursued him. In the battle that followed Hohl fell with four bullet wounds in his body and died shortly afterward at the hospital.

Hohl was well known to the police, and was a fugitive from justice. The police claim that he shot up an Altoona, Pa., bank on March 5, was arrested and while being conveyed to the Pittsburgh jail, threw a cup of coffee in his guard's face and again escaped. He was again captured but subsequently escaped from the Holidaysburg, Pa., jail. The police also claim that he was wanted in connection with a diamond robbery in Kansas City, Mo., a year ago, where he had assumed the name of Howe.

Mrs. Lulu Hohl, who says she is the wife of Frank Hohl, the bank bandit, was arrested, but the police were unable to find any trace of the money taken by the robber.

Proof that Hohl was a bigamist as well as bank robber, sneak thief and burglar, was furnished at police headquarters by his first wife.

NEW STAR PIANIST

Miss Florence Barbour, Mayville Girl, Delighted and Charmed Large Audience At Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

(Friday's Times-Star.)

The concert which the Conservatory of Music chorus and orchestra gave Thursday evening at Recital Hall developed unexpected talent. Undoubtedly, the honors of the evening were with Miss Florence Barbour, pianiste, a pupil of Mr. Marcian Talberg. Miss Barbour chose Rubinstein's concerto with orchestra and played it with such fine style, such virile coloring and such confident technique, as to create a furor. It is difficult to classify the various qualities which go to the making of the successful pianist, but two of the most desired assets are personality and individuality. Miss Barbour displayed these traits to so unusual a degree as to distinguish her from a majority of young players and to anticipate for her a distinguished place later on in the artistic world. Hers is a real talent to which many other things have been added. The Conservatory chorus concluded the concert by singing Vincent d'Indy's cantata, St. Mary Magdalen, in good style. The audience which attended packed the hall and included many persons distinguished in the music circles of the city. N. P. S.
